

For the one who gave up his life on the cross for me..

A Chinese woman was afflicted by a critical illness that required her immediate transfer from her village to the hospital of a nearby town. In the hospital she received treatment, but more importantly, she learned a great deal about Christ, so that she believed and became a Christian.

She experienced an overwhelming joy that made her forget about her pain and desire to evangelize her entire village, to let them in into the great joy of Christ...

So, she asked her doctor: "How long do you think I may live if I stay in the hospital?"

The Doctor said: Clinically you are expected to live 6 months

She asked again: and how long may I live if I left the hospital?

The doctor answered: around three months.

She immediately decided to leave the hospital and return to her village.

The doctor exclaimed: How could you sacrifice half of your remaining life?

She answered him saying: for the one who sacrificed his entire life on the cross for me.

She returned to her village and told everyone about Jesus Christ, and most of the villagers accepted Christ into their lives.
